

The Acting Studio

September 19, 2006

To whom it may concern:

Last year, I went to London to teach acting and became aware of the incredible talent of Sophia Desouza. She possessed something truly special and unique. I recommended to her that she come to Hollywood. After being here a short time, several top producers, directors and agents have requested to use her in their next projects. It is just a matter of time before the whole world will know her talent and her name.

I have been teaching acting for over 25 years all over the world and I have worked with many stars in this industry.

Thank you,

Bernard Hiller
